DOCTOR'S ORDERS: DO NOT BECOME A MEDIC

Trainee consultant advises people against following his path in NHS

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A HOSPITAL doctor who will be taking part in three days of strikes in a national protest over new working contracts said he would no longer advise anyone to pursue a career in medicine.

Dr Saranga Sothisrihari, 32, who trained at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital and is now three years away from becoming an anaesthetic consultant, said this week: "I am striking to support the future of the NHS. The contract scheme devalues staff by making them work longer hours for less pay. Basic pay has increased but out-of-hours work has been cut by a much greater amount which could leave some colleagues several hundred pounds worse off per month.

"No matter what the Health Secretary says, we believe this so-called modernisation is taking a step backwards."

Junior doctors voted overwhelmingly in favour of strike action in a ballot by the British Medical Association. The first 24-hour walkout will start at 8am next Tuesday (December 1) followed by strikes from 8am-5pm on Tuesday, December 8 and Wednesday, December 16.

Opponents

Secretary of State for Health Jeremy Hunt said the new contracts will result in more services being available at weekends but opponents claim it will cut the amount junior doctors can earn by working in the evenings and at weekends.

"Mr Hunt seems to have not fully grasped the problem," said Dr Sothisrihari.

"The proposals will be damaging the NHS in the long term and we want the Government to step back from the contracts."

Yesterday (Wednesday) Mr Hunt said he was prepared to take part in talks on the contract dispute through the conciliation service Acas.

Dr Sothisrihari lived with his parents in Longbanks, Harlow, and attended Stewards School and Harlow College before going on to study

Praying for peace at synagogue's interfaith service

PRAYERS for peace were spoken when Harlow Synagogue hosted an interfaith service.

Rabbi Irit Shillor welcomed Rev Martin Harris, the team rector of St Paul's and St Mary's Churches, and Khalid Javid from Harlow's Muslim Community. Also present at Saturday's service were Harlow councillors Ian Beckett and Wanda Forman.

The theme was peace and those present spent time in prayer and reflective thought. The various community leaders each recited their own community's prayer for peace.

Prayers and readings were shared from the Jewish, Christian, Moslem, Baha'i, Buddhism, Zoroastrianism, Native African Tradition and Taoism faiths and there was also a Moslem reading from the Syrian 14th century tradition.

Stars in video plea to save The Square

Music venue is due to close at the end of next month

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MUSICIANS who have played at The Square in Harlow are backing calls to save the iconic venue which is due to close at the end of next month.

Earlier this year Circle Housing, which owns the land in Fourth Avenue on which the The Square and the YWCA tower block are located, for housing.

As a result The Square will close its doors for the last time at the end of year. So far no alternative venue has been found.

Over the years The Square has hosted bands who went on to become some of the biggest acts in pop and rock music, including Coldplay, Snow Patrol, Muse, Biffy Clyro and The Libertines.

Now the venue's management team SquareOne Entertainment has produced a 12-minute video featuring the contributions of a number of musicians supporting the campaign to keep it open.

Billy Lunn, whose band The Subways have played a number of gigs there, said: "We need a venue in Harlow. The Square changed my life forever and I want that to continue for generation after generation."

"We need to inspire kids, we need to inspire adults, we need to inspire everyone and the way to do that is to have a venue in Harlow."

Singer-songwriter Frank Turner, who has played both solo shows and as part of the band with The Million Dead, described The Square as "one of the central anchors for the underground network in the UK".

Shame

"It's a great shame that it's under threat," he said. "It's a really important venue... and I really hope The Square continues to live long and prosper."

The video includes footage from an early performance by the band Seymour, who later changed their name to Blur, and a more recent show from singer/songwriter George Ezra.

Radio 6 presenter Steve Lamacq, who has been avid supporter of The Square for many years, said: "What about people in these towns who like music? Where do they go? What's there for them?"

"It provides a shelter, a meeting place for people. You take that away and where are these people supposed to go."

"The Harlow Square is due to shut on New Year's Eve. If that goes, the whole musical community, where do they go? This is what's important about these music venues."

Anthony Chapman, of Harlow band Collapsed Lung who had chart success with Eat My Goal, said: "If The Square is allowed to close and not be replaced, future generations will have no reason to stay in Harlow and it will be another step towards it being a dormitory town."

Doctor says health sector is 'massively undervalued' medicine at the Barts and The London School of Medicine. He trained at PAH and is now coming to the end of his time as a junior doctor in a London hospital.

"I personally could no longer advise a student at GCSE or A level to study for medicine or any health care for that matter," he said. "I think the health sector is massively undervalued. I would struggle to go back and study considering the financial and physical effort it has taken to get where I am."

"I became a doctor because I wanted to help people but I think there are better ways of doing that these days, like helping a charity. "Morale is very low among doctors at the moment."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said: "In terms of the contracts for junior doctors, the Government said they are increasing basic pay by 11 per cent. They are also cutting hours from 91 to 72 and introducing a five-day working week."

Bookings

"Our manifesto at the General Election was to introduce a seven-day NHS and this has already started in Harlow with weekend GP services. There are currently five participating practices in Harlow who are taking bookings for the service."

He added: "Comparing Sunday to Wednesday admissions, it shows that people are 15 per cent more likely to die in hospitals and that there is three times less cover than on a weekday."

A spokesman for PAH said: "Safety will remain our top priority during any industrial action and we have robust contingency plans in place to ensure the welfare of all our patients. These include the cancellation of all meetings and study leave for other doctors, as well as a review of annual leave."

"We have 112 junior doctors who are eligible to strike. It is important to note that some have already expressed the desire to pay back the time and others have said they will do this for no payment, or will donate the money to charity."

'Damp in council flat made my little girl ill'

Mum says doctor blames tot's breathing on mouldy home

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A YOUNG mum claims the health of her two-year-old daughter is being put at serious risk because of the "inadequate" conditions of her council flat.

Leanne Wootton, 25, said the heating in her tower block apartment in Potter Street, Harlow, had not worked properly for two years and as a result there is a constant build-up of mould.

She blames the mould and damp for her daughter Mia contracting pneumonia. The youngster has been taken to hospital six times since they moved into the two-bedroom apartment in November 2013.

Miss Wootton said a doctor has told her Mia's ill-health was a result of the living conditions in the flat.

Poorly

"Mia has barely been outside for the past two months because she is so poorly and has missed pre-school," she said.

"She used to be fine but she has been very unwell since we moved here.

"She has difficulty breathing and has developed asthma. Just going outside can be very hard for her.

"There was one day when she collapsed on the sofa and her eyes rolled back in her head. Her lips went blue and she was unconscious.

"I have spoken to a doctor and he said he was 100 per cent sure it was the mould and damp in our house that has caused it.

"She is now on eight different medications.

"She is much better when she is staying with her grandparents."

Miss Wootton said she had reported the problems to the council "every single day" and had investigated every route possible to find a solution.

"I moved in two years ago and there is still a problem with the mould which constantly appears on the window sills," she said.

"The heating has never worked either and it is freezing in here, the kitchen is like ice. There is a cupboard which could have asbestos in. The flat is inadequate."

Miss Wootton said she had asked to be moved to another property, adding: "I am not wanting to move to a bigger flat or house, I just want somewhere where we can safely live.

"I have expressed my concerns to the council but every time they have come when I told them I was going to be out.

"I have been feeling really low about everything and now I've been diagnosed with depression."

A council spokesman said: "The council has been working with Miss Wootton to address the issues at hand. Kier Harlow is due to visit her property to help address the issues with mould and condensation.

"Although there is a shortage of social housing she is advised to continue bidding for homes which become available as she is currently in the highest priority banding on the Harlow Housing Needs Register."

Dedicated charity worker loses four-year battle with cancer

GRACE AND HUMILITY: The family of Lisa Sheppard, pictured, have paid tribute to her dedication

THE family of a dedicated charity worker who devoted her life to helping other people have paid tribute to her commitment and selflessness.

Lisa Sheppard, who was also known by her maiden name of Mahoney, died on Saturday after battling cancer for four years. She was 52.

Mrs Sheppard was well-known in Harlow for her work with the town's branch of Age Concern.

Daughter Rose, 21, said: "She was a mother to three but a second mother to so many people. She was the chief officer of Age Concern where she worked for 28 years. She was absolutely selfless and devoted her life to people; she helped thousands through her work. Everyone who knows her has nothing but nice things to say about her."

Mrs Sheppard, who lived in Fennells, had been ill for some time but did not let it stop her from working.

Devastated

"She was battling cancer for four years but she worked right up until she was so poorly that she couldn't anymore," said Rose. "We are devastated to have lost her but we have been overwhelmed by the messages we have received.

"Shortly before she died we held a celebration at our house and more than 150 people came, which is a reflection of the grace and humility that mum represented. She always put herself before others right until the end."

She received a town Civic Award for her charity work and her family are now raising money in her memory for the Williams Day Unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

She leaves husband Frederick, children Paul, 32, William, 29 and Rose, 21, and four grandchildren.

Her funeral will be held next Friday (December 4) at Parndon Wood Crematorium at 10am.

"Anyone who was touched by my mum over the years is welcome to come to the funeral," said Rose. "We want it to be a big celebration for people to come and pay their respects."

No way to end housing crisis

SIR, It never ceases to amaze me that politicians always seem to have such short memories. Councillor Mike Danvers' letter of November 12 only proves the point.

Whilst in opposition from 1979-1997, the Labour Party lambasted Conservative policies on housing, including the Right to Buy. They clearly stated that in the event of being re-elected they would allow councils to use Right to Buy receipts to build replacement council houses.

However, on coming to power in 1997 almost the first thing the Labour government did was to say that councils could only build houses if they had no debt. In Harlow's case I believe the £50m held in Right to Buy receipts was used to pay off its debt.

Figures show that during the Conservative governments from 1979 to 1997 an average of 41,343 council homes were built in the UK each year. The figure for the Labour years of 1997 to 2010 was just 562.

Whilst the building of housing association rented property more than made up for this shortfall, we all know what 'affordable' rents charged by housing associations really mean to the average wage earner – a life on housing benefits.

I do not profess to support the present Government's policies. Just about everyone in the social housing profession knows present housing policies will be a disaster for all those who cannot, or do not want to, buy a home.

Until the right to a home of your own is no longer seen as a political football or a way to provide an investment, Britain's growing housing crisis will never be overcome.

MP's conflict of credibility

SIR, Like many Harlow residents I was disappointed to see the front page of the Sunday Times dominated by a report of our MP's apparent dishonesty in personal matters.

Robert Halfon's face is very familiar around Harlow and his reputation high. We are told he earned his role in the Cabinet for his credibility with ordinary people. It is, therefore conflicting for those who voted for him in the election to discover they weren't voting for a man who could be taken at face value.

During the election Mr Halfon's publicity suggested he was warmly appreciated for this, even by the Opposition, and quoted from Hansard [the official record of proceedings in the House of Commons] to show that Labour MPs had great respect for him. But this was an abuse of the Parliamentary record as it took the customary formalities and implied that they were somehow personal.

When I informed the Labour MP that they had been used in this way, each complained to Mr Halfon's office. The advert couldn't be taken on face value.

Similarly, Mr Halfon continues to vote with the Government on policies that damage the people of this town. I understand over 11,000 are now due to suffer financial loss when the new benefits system kicks in.

Mr Halfon has the capability to face one way when in Westminster and the other in his constituency. The people of Harlow deserve someone with better face value.

Andy Thornton
Churchgate Street, Harlow

The voice of opposition

SIR, What has happened to Suzy Stride since the General Election? Is she still the Labour candidate for Harlow as we don't seem to have any parliamentary opposition voice in this area at the moment.

Our MP may be doing a good or bad job but we still need alternative voices other than from the Euro MP.

Name and address supplied

Who will be accountable?

SIR, In your report about a project manager being appointed to oversee the transfer of council services from Kier Harlow (Star, November 5), Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner seems to think that paying someone over three times what the average local resident earns is OK.

As leader of our council he will be aware that residents were promised there will be no additional cost involved in a change to the proposed LATC that the council is setting up to replace Kier Harlow.

The proposed project manager will need a team, office accommodation, IT etc. If what the council charges Housing Services for these services is anything to go by, this will take his department costs up to £300k-£400k and that's without things like changing vehicle livery, retraining staff and setting up trade specific H&S.

Who is going to manage these teams? Who is going to provide technical back-up? Who is going to ensure staff and work done will comply with current legislation?

As a major company, Kier had compliance and quality management. What has Harlow Council got? Is the project manager and his team going to be absorbed into the council?

I am all in favour of protecting the workers but the council is bringing 400-plus staff back in house. Where have they all come from? What have they been doing since 2007?

A lot of Kier Harlow's work has been carried out by contractors, so are we including these and bringing them in house?

The council brought in independent consultants to look at the best way of providing these services but was there any consultation with residents? Are the consultants going to stand up and be accountable?

And are the officers and councillors who appointed these consultants and then endorsed their report going to stand up and be accountable to local taxpayers?

Mike Carr
Rundalls, Harlow

Give horses a right of care

SIR, At this time of the year we remember all those who died in the two world wars. During the First World War over one million horses also perished.

Man has used horses for all sorts of tasks without any complaint from these majestic creatures.

In Harlow horses are tied up, stand out in the cold and rain often up to their fetlocks in mud, sometimes for days at a time with the circle they walk in void of grass and only eating food given by passers-by.

In the summer they stand without shelter, frying in the sun. Their hooves are not properly cared for either.

Horses are herd animals which want and need company.

Essex County Council is failing in its duty to deal with this problem. It would rather turn a blind eye.

Animals should at least have rights to be cared for in a way we would all be happy with.

So can I say to the custodians in our council and government, get some guts and deal with this very sad situation

Thanks to all hospital staff

SIR, Having recently been discharged from Princess Alexandra Hospital, I would like to send a few bouquets to the staff, the paramedics who got me there so quickly, the A&E teams who were so efficient and the staff on the minor stroke ward who were so kind and reassuring.

I would also like to thank the team of therapists who, since I have been home, have been so helpful and patient.

SIR, On Saturday, November 7 I was taken ill at home with chest pains. I have had heart problems for a few years now.

My wife called 111 and told them what was happening. An ambulance turned up within minutes and the paramedics were brilliant.

When we arrived at PAH I was seen straight away; the doctors and nurses were unbelievable. Their diagnosis was unstable angina, which I knew I had, and I returned home at 7pm that night.

My wife and I would like to thank all the A&E staff for their kindness.

Exhausted by this car noise

SIR, Sometimes I wonder if I live in Harlow or next to the Santa Pod racetrack.

What is it with these stupid exhausts on cars? I have never heard such a racket; the times my children have been woken up by inconsiderate people revving their car engines all night long.

And then there's the noise blaring out from music boxes in the boot.

Why don't they show some consideration for other people? All they want to do is party but some of us have to get up for work.

YOPEY-winner Matthew 'overwhelmed' by award

Judges praise inspirational young entrepreneur who turned his life around

Ken Morley

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

A YOUNG man who turned his life around after going off the rails as a teenager has been named Essex Young Person of the Year.

Matthew Martino, of Spinning Wheel Mead, Harlow, was presented with the YOPEY award by the Lord Lieutenant of Essex at a ceremony in London.

Matthew, 23, was shortlisted out of hundreds of entries from across the county and was chosen by a panel of judges who said he had used his "boundless energy" and business skills to help others pursue their dreams.

Matthew, whose family settled in the UK from Zimbabwe in 2005, has always shown entrepreneurial skills and at the age of 14 he ran a market stall selling mobile phone accessories from China.

After leaving school at the age of 16 he went into acting and is now a film producer. This, along with various other business interests, provided him with the money he needed to learn to fly, but it was also the start of his problems.

"I was really really bad," he said. "I think that the hardest thing was when the first big cheque came in. I didn't know what to do or where to go and suddenly you have all these friends, all these pals, and it's like great, let's rent a boat, let's go to St Tropez."

"It was really crazy and I guess that it was just me acting out because I didn't have to spend and I didn't need to spend but I did."

WELL DONE: Matthew receives his award from the Lord Lieutenant of Essex

He once blew £3,500 on alcoholic drinks for himself and friends on a single night out in London and was nearly deported from the USA after it was believed he flew an aircraft solo before he got his pilot's licence. He has got into public rows with other people in the movie industry and used to go on holidays "almost monthly" until his mother took away his passport.

Then two years ago Matthew, who still lives with his parents and sister, realised he had to grow up and set up the Matthew Martino Benevolent Fund to help young people progress into the two industries that helped him make a success of his life - aviation and arts.

"I've been interested in flying since I was a little boy and I don't forget the support I received when I did my private pilot licence. With the arts I did some performing and then moved onto producing. I am very thankful for all the help I received.

"I think with the right support and resources a lot of young people would stay off the streets and work harder. All it takes to succeed is drive and passion. Hopefully with the grants, scholarships and support MMBF offer we can inspire a whole generation of young achievers."

Although not yet a millionaire, he said: "I have found greater wealth in being able to do what makes me happy and by helping others."

He gave £50,000 to MMBF which will last until the end of the year and has signed over stakes in some of his businesses to the fund, which is due to gain official charity status soon. He hopes the profits from these businesses will allow the fund to continue supporting young people.

As well as continuing to make movies and invest in other businesses, Matthew has returned to education and is studying for a business finance degree through the Open University.

In reaching their decision to award the YOPEY title to Matthew, the judges said: "It is good to see that someone who went off the rails is now helping others."

Presenting the award to Matthew, the Lord Lieutenant, John Petre, said he was an inspiration and a great example to many young people.

Matthew's YOPEY prize included £400 for MMBF and £100 for himself.

"I feel overwhelmed and I certainly didn't think I would win," he said. "It really shows me that I am doing what I set out to achieve and that it is good to give back to everyone."

This year's awards were sponsored by Total Logic Security of Harlow, EWA Bespoke Communications, Fisher Jones Greenwood Solicitors, Estuary Housing Association and Runwood Homes.

Christmas Day parkrun

PEOPLE wanting a spot of exercise before they tuck into their Christmas dinner can take part in a December 25 parkrun in Harlow.

Vicky Calver, who organises the Saturday morning 5km runs around the Town Park, is hoping runners and volunteers will dress up for the festive event, which will start at 9.30am.

It is the first time the parkrun has been held on Christmas Day.

"The course set-up will be minimal but we will still need some key volunteers," said Vicky. "Please feel free to add your name to the roster and make a difference to someone's Christmas Day."

She added: "It would be rude not to come dressed in a festive manner and there may well be mince pies afterwards."

School calls off students' French trip after Paris terror attacks

STUDENTS at a Harlow secondary school have been left disappointed after a trip to France was cancelled in the wake of the terrorist attacks in Paris.

Pupils from Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, and Forest Hall School in Stansted were due to travel this weekend.

But following the attacks in the French capital, both schools took the decision to call off the trip in the best interests of the students.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has recommended British schools planning to take groups to France follow the French ministry of education's advice not to travel.

Helena Mills, head of both Burnt Mill Co-operative Academy Trust schools, said: "The safety of our children is the most important thing to us. I wouldn't feel I was doing my job if I allowed that trip to go ahead because the world doesn't feel very safe for our children at the moment.

"It is such a shame as we know how excited our children were and how much they love to go and practise their French actually in France with French people.

"They had such exciting things planned on the trip but we hope we can work with the travel company and organise it for another time."

The students were due to visit a Christmas market during their trip.

Trust holds meeting on plans for a new school

PLANS to open a new free school and sixth form on the former Passmores site in Harlow were discussed at a parents' meeting.

The Burnt Mill Academy Trust, which looks after two secondary schools and four primaries in Harlow and Stansted, is considering applying to sponsor the new school.

It needs the support of 750 parents of children in current Years 3, 4, 9 and 10 if it is to submit its proposals in March.

Should these be successful, the new sixth form would open in 2017, and the secondary school – the Burnt Mill Academy of Excellence – a year later.

Helena Mills, head of BMAT schools, told parents at the first meeting at Roydon Primary School the plans would satisfy a need for extra school places in Harlow.

Parents Gregg and Kelly Pike, whose sons Ross and Max attend Burnt Mill and Roydon Primary, said: "It makes complete sense for BMAT to set up a sixth form and for parents to support the trust going forward."

"They have put together a lovely network of teachers and schools working together."

"Our oldest son's transition from primary to secondary within BMAT was amazing. There were no issues as he already felt comfortable at Burnt Mill as he had spent plenty of time there with transition sessions and summer school."

MUSIC: Albert Hall outing Proms trip

Ken Morley

ken.morley@hertsexnews.co.uk

PUPILS from a Harlow primary school left the classroom and travelled up to London for an evening of music at the Royal Albert Hall.

The 30 youngsters in Years 3, 4 and 5 at Cooks Spinney Primary Academy, in Cooks Spinney, were attending the Music For Youth Primary Proms.

The trip was possible because the school managed to get free tickets to the event.

The Primary Proms provides children with the opportunity to experience live music in a major venue and encourage their involvement in music in an engaging environment.

Experience

From their position in one of the concert hall's boxes, they got a perfect view of the orchestra who treated the audience to a programme of music from around the world.

Deputy headteacher Amy Dias said: "The experience the children got was absolutely amazing. They were just staring in awe with their jaws dropped – they couldn't believe what they were seeing."

"It was a great opportunity for them to go to the Royal Albert Hall and to see the full symphony orchestra in action. The children absolutely loved it. They were all opportunity to expand the classroom and opens us up to so many more activities," said Ms Dias.

"There's a lot more to learning than what is taught in the classroom. Not all of our children are able to get out and about and to explore with their families and so we are giving them that opportunity at school. We see an improvement in pupils' vocabulary, confidence and imagination when they have been working in the nature area, but also their behaviour improves."

Head of school Stuart Pope added: "Outside learning opportunities are a key feature of all year groups' long-term planning and is marked explicitly on their plans."

College raises £1,000 for Children in Need appeal

HEROIC EFFORT: Pudsey and Superwoman cheer on students

STUDENTS at Harlow College did their bit to support the BBC's Children in Need appeal.

They raised almost £1,000 by various means including dressing up as superheroes, baking cakes, organising raffles and holding sweet tree auction.

Children in Need mascot Pudsey kept popping up around the campus during the day and even found time to enjoy a spot of pampering in the college's hair salon.

In addition, college A-level student Elliot Lewis was seen by millions of television viewers completing The One Show's Rickshaw Challenge, in which six young people took it in turns to pedal the 470 miles from Land's End to the BBC's studios at Elstree.

Paralympian Wendy inspires Freshwaters students

INSPIRATIONAL athlete Wendy Smith, who represented Great Britain at the 2004 Paralympics, spoke to pupils about her life and ambition when she visited a Harlow primary school.

Wendy suffered spinal injuries in a motorbike accident but went on to play wheelchair basketball for GB. She is now a qualified sports psychologist, sports massage therapist, basketball coach and a referee and has just started to train as a sprint kayaker.

During her visit to Freshwaters Primary Academy, in School Lane, she talked about her achievements, including getting back to walking with a stick and riding bikes and horses.

Freshwaters is supporting the Be The Best You Can Be! programme developed as an educational legacy of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Wendy told the children: "At the age of 17, I had a horrific motorbike accident which resulted in a severe spinal injury, among lots of other injuries, and a year-long stay in hospital.

"I was told I would never walk again but I battled for years at the gym, devising my own rehab plan, and now walk with sticks.

"I believe in the programme because it really does work. I have seen children transform from states of 'I can't do that' to 'I can do that' during the three hours I attend schools. At the end of the programme, all the children involved understand their lives are their creation and responsibility and that with belief and application, they can."

Children will now be taught the skills they need to follow their dreams.

Head of school Marios Solomonides said: "The children really took to Wendy as she is from Essex and so they could relate to where she started from.

"She showed them life isn't just about having one plan but having a plan B and C, too. She wanted to be a mechanic before her accident and so didn't focus on anything else at school. Her accident made her change her path.

"We are looking at how to implement the programme throughout school and are confident it will raise attainment as it will make the children more focused and see a purpose to what they are learning.

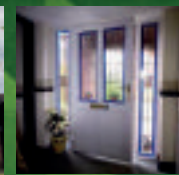

"Life isn't about competing against others to be the best, it's about being the very best you can be and competing against yourself."

HOSPICE: 40 people step forward to take part in red-hot challenge

Firewalk fundraisers bare their soles

ORGANISERS of a charity firewalk turned up the heat on 40 fundraisers who stepped forward for the challenge in aid of St Clare Hospice.

The thrillseekers, including 10 members of staff at the Hastingwood hospice as well as pantomime dame Milky Mary, raised more than £12,000 by walking over the red-hot embers.

Jade Clark, St Clare's events fundraiser, said she was delighted to see so many people fired up by the chance to take on the challenge.

"To watch people, who earlier in the evening said they weren't sure they could do it, take their first steps onto the coals was really inspiring," she said. "Some people even chose to walk across the firepit twice."

The firewalk, which was such a success it more than doubled its £5,000 target, was held at the Thremhall Park Business Centre near Stansted Airport.

Anglers' joy at restoration of 'hospital pond'

Neglected beauty spot returned to former glory

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A ONCE-picturesque pond in the centre of Harlow is being returned to its former glory after years of neglect.

Oakwood Pond, off Hodings Road, is currently being dredged and re-shaped at a cost of £16,500.

The beauty spot, which is more commonly known as the 'hospital pond' as it can be seen from Princess Alexandra Hospital, is maintained by Harlow Council and the Stort Valley Angling Society.

Society chairman Mick Westby said he was glad the site was being restored.

"Oakwood is a beautiful spot in the woods and a favourite of dog walkers, but over time the pond became very dirty and badly polluted and nothing could live in it," said Mr Westby, 70, of Five Acres, Harlow. "We decided as a society to have the pond desilted."

"A digger has come round and cleared most of the dirt away and now we want to see it filled again to its proper level."

The pond is currently being refilled after two weeks of work and the site will soon be accessible again.

Before the dredging work started, the remaining fish were caught and relocated but the numerous ducks that occupy it have remained.

WADING IN: Restoration work is giving Oakwood Pond a new lease of life

Members of the angling society currently fish at Netteswell Pond because Oakwood Pond is too small for competitions.

However, with smaller fish living in the pond, Oakwood offers an ideal opportunity for beginners to hone their skills with a rod.

Mr Westby said he is "hopeful" that the pond will be restocked with crucian carp so casual fishing can resume.

"We want it to be a natural pond that the community can enjoy," he said. "I am hopeful crucian carp will return soon and kids can fish here again."

Cheer on kids' panto convoy

A FAMILY outing to the panto is a traditional part of the Christmas celebrations but for scores of children in Harlow this year's trip will be one they remember long after the curtain has fallen.

Every year funeral directors Daniel Robinson & Sons organises a convoy of limousines to take a group of youngsters who have had a tough time through illness or bereavement to the show at Harlow Playhouse.

As in previous years, the company has been working with local organisations to identify children who, along with their families, deserve a special Christmas treat.

And once again it is urging residents to line the route and cheer on the convoy as it makes its way through the town en route to the theatre.

This year the convoy, which is the fifth the firm has organised, will take place on Sunday, December 13, leaving from the Latton Bush Centre at approximately 1pm. For full details of the route visit www.drobinson.co.uk/panto.html.

Fire in study centre started deliberately

A FIRE which caused extensive damage to an office at the Harlow Study Centre on Saturday is being treated as arson.

The culprits forced open the front door of the building at Netteswellbury Farm shortly after 5pm.

They then gained entry to an office and set fire to a filing cabinet, causing substantial damage to the office area.

Anybody who saw anyone acting suspiciously in the area or on the premises on Saturday afternoon is asked to contact DS Mick Orr at Harlow CID on the Essex Police non-emergency 101 number.

Diamond couple say all you need is love

DIAMONDS are forever as a couple celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary have proved.

John and Audrey Nicholls, of Herons Wood, Harlow, were married in Cambridgeshire, on October 29, 1955. The couple had been courting for six months before they decided to tie the knot.

Sixty years later their marriage is stronger than ever and to celebrate their anniversary they were joined by members of their family for the day, which included afternoon tea at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych.

"I enjoyed the afternoon tea very much," said Mrs Nicholls, 83, "and receiving a card from the Queen was also a lovely surprise."

The couple moved to Harlow in 1958 when the new town was still in its infancy, living in Hornbeams before moving to their current address in 1969. Mr Nicholls was employed as an inspector at the electronics firm AC Cossor, where his wife also worked before she

The couple had two daughter – Tina and Cindy, who sadly passed away in 2013 – as well as five grandchildren and five

"My husband would consider love to be the secret of a successful marriage," said Mrs Nicholls.

Police find cannabis factory during house raid

SKUNK cannabis with a street value of more than £160,000 has been seized during a raid on a house in Harlow.

Police with a warrant to search the property at Newhall found a large amount of dried herbal cannabis as well as production equipment including lighting and heaters.

Inspector Paul Maleary, of Harlow police, said: "It was great police work that identified the premises and located the drugs in question."

"We take the cultivation and supply of cannabis very seriously. This is not simply a recreational drug issue, it is organised crime that places a blight on the local community."

Enquiries are continuing to identify those responsible for the production of the drug.

Anyone with information is asked to contact PS James Paget at Harlow Police station on the Essex Police non-emergency 101 number.

Work to start soon at A414 'pinchpoint'

£9.5m scheme to keep traffic flowing

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WORK to relieve congestion at one of Harlow's key traffic pinchpoints is about to start.

The £9.75m scheme to ease problems at the A414 junction with First Avenue is the first phase of two major road schemes which are seen as vital to plans to bring economic growth and prosperity to the town.

Preliminary work began in the summer to move utility services ahead of the main construction work which is due to start shortly. The main elements of the scheme include:

- Upgrading of the roundabout to provide two dedicated slip roads to and from the A414 into First Avenue east of the A414.

- Widening the section of First Avenue between the A414 and London Road roundabouts to two lanes in each direction.

- Widening the A414 approaches to the First Avenue roundabout to two lanes in each direction, extending south of the roundabout to meet the A414/EZ London Road junction.

The first phase will also see the construction of a new junction and access for the London Road campus of Harlow Enterprise Zone, a scheme which is being funded separately.

This will include installing a new signal controlled junction with the A414 and the Enterprise Zone site and building a new link road from the A414 junction through the Enterprise Zone site to London Road, linking through to Newhall.

Work on the second phase of the programme – to upgrade Edinburgh Way and improve its junction with Cambridge Road – is currently being developed.

Essex County Council secured funding from the South East Local Enterprise Partnership Growth Fund for the two schemes, which will be completed by 2017/18.

Transforming

Cllr Rodney Bass, cabinet member for infrastructure at County Hall, said: "These schemes are playing a key part in transforming Harlow to bring economic growth and prosperity to the town and West Essex in general."

"They will result in major road improvements supporting the Harlow Enterprise Zone, ensuring the town's road network is up to the standards required for the extra business the enterprise zone will generate."

Both schemes will also include upgrades of cycling and pedestrian facilities.

Bikers club gears up to deliver toys to children's ward

KIND-hearted members of a Harlow motorcycle club are revving up to help Father Christmas deliver presents to children in hospital.

It is the fifth year running that the Rough Creed Motorcycle Club will take on the role of Santa's helpers to bring smiles to the faces of youngsters in Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The bikers will pack their bags full of toys and head in convoy to the hospital where they will deliver the gifts to children on the Dolphin Ward.

The club is appealing for donations of toys and is inviting anyone to join them in the convoy which will leave from The Square, in Fourth Avenue, at 10am on Saturday, December 5.

Cash donations are also being taken as, for the first time, the club is looking to support junior doctors. It has also pledged to help the support group Upwards with Downs by securing Harlow Playhouse pantomime tickets for children who suffer with Down's Syndrome.

Club vice-president Tom Taylor, 25, said: "We are asking for cash donations or toys which must be easy to clean as they will be in a hospital environment, so unfortunately this means we cannot accept teddy bears."

Winter health tips

ADVICE on staying safe and keeping well during winter will be offered to older people at a free event taking place at the Leah Manning Centre in Harlow next Thursday (December 3).

Representatives of public and voluntary organisations will be at the event, which is being organised by the West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group.

Presentations start at 10.30am and lunch will be provided at 12.30pm. To reserve a place, contact Keith Wilson on (01992) 566140.

Student award for community champion

Judges praise teen's dedication

By Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A YOUNG man who has demonstrated a tireless commitment to improving the Harlow community has been named runner-up in this year's national Student of the Year awards.

Former Harlow College business student Nishall Garala, 19, was one of three finalists who were shortlisted for their achievements.

The awards, run by the Association of Colleges, highlight outstanding student achievement across the country.

Over the past few years Nishall, of Waterhouse Moor, has served on Harlow Youth Council, worked as a police youth ambassador with Harlow Police to help build community relationships, been appointed vice-chairman of the Waterhouse Moor Residents' Association and taken part in a range of neighbourhood initiatives.

He has also sat on the independent advisory group for Harlow Police and helped to author a report and recommendations on tackling antisocial behaviour in the town, represented young people on the Harlow Neighbourhood Action Panel and been active in raising the profile of Hinduism by representing Hindus and young people at the local interfaith forum.

During that time he studied for a BTEC Level 3 Extended Diploma in Business for which he was awarded the highest possible result and undertook a work placement at Simmtronic Lighting Controls.

A delighted Nishall said: "It's fantastic to have won second prize as Student of the Year from the AoC. Thank you everyone for the support."

AoC president John Widdowson, who led the judging panel, said: "Congratulations to Nishall on being named second in the Student of the Year award. His work in Harlow College and the local community is very deserving of this national recognition."

■ There was more good news for Nishall at the weekend when he was named runner-up in the 2015 Essex Young Person of the Year (YOPEY) competition.

Health group calls for action to curb use of antibiotics

HEALTH chiefs in West Essex are encouraging residents to become "antibiotic guardians" in a bid to combat overuse of the drugs.

The West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group, which is responsible for buying healthcare services for Harlow, said that by signing up to become a guardian, people can help in the fight against the increasing resistance of diseases to antibiotics.

Antibiotics are important in treating infections but there is growing concern that the bugs which are responsible are adapting to survive the effects of current treatments.

Skipping doses of antibiotics, not taking them at regular intervals, saving some for later or sharing antibiotics with others may also be contributing to the resistance.

Harlow GP Dr Rob Gerlis, who is also chairman of the West Essex CCG, said: "The message is an important one and we can all take action."

"Antibiotics are not the answer for many of the conditions some people want them for. They do not work on colds or for most coughs, sore throats and earache. The human body can usually fight these infections on its own."

Meanwhile, a recent study by Antibiotic Research UK has uncovered that GPs in some of the more deprived areas of Essex are prescribing antibiotics at almost twice the national average.

Dr Erica Louise Teare, specialist in microbiology at Broomfield Hospital in Chelmsford, said: "We must use antibiotics judiciously and carefully, we should be making sure that we are documenting in detail any use of them and teaching younger doctors as they are developing to do the same."

Shop's record total for Pudsey appeal

Customers support staff's fundraising efforts

GRIN AND BEAR IT: Staff at the Harlow town centre branch of Boots raised £3,300 for this year's Children in Need appeal

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

SHOPPERS opened their wallets and purses as well as their hearts to help a Harlow store collect a record amount for the BBC's Children in Need appeal.

Staff at Boots, in Broad Walk, staged a day of fundraising activities including a raffle and tombola and their efforts were rewarded when the amount they collected totalled up to £3,300.

As well as beating last year's figure of £3,100, the store raised the second highest total of any Boots branch in the country.

Several members of staff dressed up as Children in Need mascot Pudsey Bear and walked around the town with collection buckets, while others turned up on their day off to support the effort.

Assistant manager Sonia Law said: "It was a fantastic amount to raise and I'm really pleased."

"The weather was awful but people still came in and donated and we had a big raffle and tombola. All the items left over were donated to the Samaritan's Purse shoebox appeal."

She added: "I am especially pleased that the Harlow store raised one of the highest amounts in the country."

Drug smuggler is sentenced to 12 years in jail

JAILED: Anthony Wilson

Court Reporter

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW man has been jailed for 12 years for his part in a major international drug smuggling operation.

Anthony Wilson, 38, of Chelsea Gardens, and co-conspirator Anthony Dennis, 48, of Bassetts Lane, Ongar, were identified during an investigation by the National Crime Agency in co-operation with the Dutch National Police.

The Old Bailey was told the pair were regulars at a café in Rotterdam which became a global operations centre for international drug traffickers.

The café, run by two Turkish brothers, was open 18 hours a day. It could only be entered via a buzzer system and provided a meeting place where criminals negotiated with cartel members and arranged the financing and transportation of huge quantities of drugs.

Dutch police officers covertly recorded meetings in the café that proved Dennis and Wilson were sourcing cocaine from South America and arranging its transport in shipping containers carrying legitimate cargo.

The Turkish brothers and their criminal associates were then responsible for extracting the drugs using corrupt port officials, before moving and storing the consignments.

Cocaine

But Dennis and Wilson's plan unraveled when 67.5 kilos of cocaine was not removed from a shipping container in Belgium in May 2013. It was later seized by the German authorities in Essen.

The Dutch investigation continued and in October 2013 a large number of people were arrested in co-ordinated raids in the UK and the Netherlands.

Wilson was one of those arrested but Dennis, who was in Spain at the time, went on the run. He was eventually arrested in August this year by the NCA and flown back to the UK to stand trial.

Both Dennis and Wilson were sentenced at the Old Bailey last Wednesday after pleading guilty to conspiracy to commit a foreign drug trafficking offence. Dennis was jailed for 13 years and four months.

Brendan Foreman, the NCA's regional head of investigations, said afterwards: "Dennis and Wilson joined forces with international criminals to bring up to three tonnes of cocaine into Europe, some of which was highly likely to have ended up on UK streets.

"They thought the café in Rotterdam was a safe place to conduct their operations but by working in partnership with the Dutch police, the NCA was able to identify them and put a stop to their plan."

Rise in number of physical attacks on ambulance staff

ASSAULTS on staff working for the East of England Ambulance Service have risen by 3.7 per cent during the past 12 months.

Figures released by NHS Protect reveal that a total of 195 physical attacks – 51 of them in Essex – were recorded by the East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust in 2014-15.

Clinical conditions were a factor in 55 of the incidents but 140 assaults did not relate to the patient's medical condition. Criminal sanctions were brought against 90 people who assaulted ambulance staff.

EEAST chief executive Robert Morton said: "The number of physical assaults is a very small percentage of the calls our staff attend. However, violence can have a big impact on our staff who are trying to save lives and provide the best possible care.

"It is unacceptable our staff experience abuse when they are trying to do their job and it won't be tolerated. We will seek to prosecute those who assault or abuse our dedicated staff."

Otto the bulldog is a skateboarding champ

YOU may have seen the story in the Star a couple of weeks ago about a giant dog called Hagrid who has set a new world record for eating sausages.

Hagrid, who lives with his owners in Old Harlow, ate 14 hot dogs in 30 seconds at a dog show in Birmingham.

Well now come news of another dog which has set a world record – this time for skateboarding through the legs of 30 people

Four-year-old bulldog Otto was placed on the skateboard and then rolled down a hill and through a tunnel of human legs.

Video of the record attempt shows Otto shifting his weight to go round bends and even using his paw to propel himself along when he slows down.

As Otto passes through the final pair of legs, the watching crowd starts clapping and cheering as Otto is lifted into the air by his happy owner, who told reporters: "It all started like a game. "Then one time he was skateboarding very fast towards me and to avoid being hit I opened my legs and that's how the human tunnel was born."

Cash and curry for breast unit

£40,000 raised for cancer trials charity

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A SATURDAY night curry followed by a healthy Sunday run proved a winning combination for the breast cancer clinical trials unit at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Television chef Cyrus Todiwala hosted a dinner at his London restaurant Cafe Spice Namaste which raised £10,000 for the unit.

Mr Todiwala said: "Not one of us at the restaurant is untouched by having seen what this disease can do to our loved ones and relatives."

"I'm pleased we raised £10,000 on the night and this will now be on our calendar as an annual event."

The following day a group of 73 runners raised £30,000 when they took part in the Royal Parks Half Marathon.

Among them was Danielle Kisberg, from Bishop's Stortford, who signed up after the unit supported a family member and two close friends.

"In addition to funding clinical trials, it also funds programmes like the Fabulous and Beautiful sessions which are held at Epping and have been invaluable to all of them," said Danielle. "It provides an area to meet other women going through breast cancer."

FINE DINING: Cyrus Todiwala with event organiser Victoria Gerlis

"They could try on wigs and hats and get help with things like how to draw on eyebrows or lashes and they offer alternative therapies like reflexology to aid relaxation during chemotherapy."

"These little things made a huge difference and gave them all something to look forward to each week."

Associate specialist breast surgeon Ashraf Patel said: "October saw so many people going the extra mile for the charity for Breast Cancer Awareness Month and we're so thankful to everyone for their support."

"The time and effort they have given to raise crucial funds for the charity will benefit so many women."

Prehistoric pals

ODD COUPLE: Spot and Arlo form an unlikely friendship

The Good Dinosaur

ANIMATION ADVENTURE (PG) 101 mins

Director: Peter Sohn

Voices: Raymond Ochoa, Jack Bright, Sam Elliott, Anna Paquin, AJ Buckley, Jeffrey Wright, Frances McDormand, Marcus Scribner, Maleah Padilla, Steve Zahn

FOUR instalments of monster mashing in Jurassic Park have taught us to be thankful that an asteroid supposedly impacted Earth around 66 million years ago and wiped out the various prehistoric predators.

Pixar Animation Studios begs to differ.

Director Peter Sohn and his animation wizards conjure an alternate version of events: the ill-fated asteroid bypassed our third rock from the sun, allowing Tyrannosaurus Rex and other hulking beasts to thrive.

Consequently, the evolutionary food chain is reversed: dinosaurs learn to talk, build homes, raise dysfunctional families and expand their horizons while humans are an untamed species that roams the wilderness on all fours and communicates in crude howls and growls.

It's a cute concept that provides a solid foundation for Sohn's life-affirming tale of friendship and loyalty, inverting the touching central relationship of How To Train Your Dragon with similarly teary-eyed results.

At the heart of the film is a family of Apatosaurus comprising patriarch Henry (voiced by Jeffrey Wright), his wife Ida (Frances McDormand) and three children Buck (Marcus Scribner), Libby (Maleah Padilla) and Arlo (Raymond Ochoa).

They own a farm and work hard to harvest crops for the bitter winter months.

"You got to earn your mark by doing something big for something bigger than yourself," Henry teaches his offspring.

A tragic accident robs the siblings of their father and soon after, Arlo tumbles into a raging river and is swept far away from his loved ones.

Lost in the wilderness, Arlo meets a feral cave boy called Spot (Jack Bright), who becomes the dinosaur's protector.

Beast and human embark on a magical adventure of self-discovery, bound for Arlo's home in the shadow of the Clawed-Tooth Mountains.

En route, they fall foul of villainous velociraptors and a scavenging pterodactylus called Thunderclap (Steve Zahn), and befriend a tyrannosaurus herder called Butch (Sam Elliott) and his rootin' tootin' children Ramsey (Anna Paquin) and Nash (AJ Buckley).

After the heartbreak, hilarity and narrative sophistication of Inside Out, The Good Dinosaur is a step backwards for Pixar.

The plot is formulaic and predictable, and the finale is drizzled in emotional syrup.

While the script lacks daring and invention, the visuals are truly jaw-dropping and push the boundaries of photo-realistic animation on the big screen.

Gentle humour is concentrated in the opening hour, before the obligatory harsh life lessons including one pivotal scene in which Arlo and Spot communicate their loss and loneliness through actions rather than words.

The pay-off is an emotional gut punch that has become the studio's trademark.

The Good Dinosaur screens with the charming short Sanjay's Super Team directed by Sanjay Patel in which a young Indian boy daydreams about three Hindu gods becoming superheroes.

SPY GAME: Tom Hanks plays Brooklyn lawyer James Donovan

Slow-burning thriller

Bridge Of Spies

THRILLER (12A) 141 mins

Director: Steven Spielberg

Starring: Mark Rylance, Austin Stowell, Will Rogers, Sebastian Koch, Alan Alda, Amy Ryan

Director Steven Spielberg reunites with actor Tom Hanks for an incredible true story of courage and daring that proves one man can make a difference.

Scripted by Matt Charman and the Coen brothers, Bridge Of Spies is an espionage thriller that pits a mild-mannered insurance lawyer against the bureaucratic might of the USSR and Germany during the Cold War.

Spielberg's fingerprints are evident on each assured set-piece and he elicits another compelling performance from Hanks as an underdog and everyman, whose innate decency inspires everyone around him.

However, British co-star Mark Rylance lingers even longer in the memory as the convicted Soviet collaborator, who confronts the harsh reality of his situation with droll humour. Their scenes together are truly wonderful.

Rudolf Abel (Rylance) is arrested in 1957 New York and labelled a Soviet spy.

Legal maven Thomas Watters Jr (Alan Alda) enlists one of his best lawyers, James B Donovan (Hanks), to mount a credible defence for the sake of appearances even though the odds are stacked against a fair trial.

The presiding judge (Dakin Matthews) makes clear his expectations of Abel's fate: "He'll receive a capable defence and God willing, he'll be convicted."

Donovan's wife Mary (Amy Ryan) and three children, Carol (Eve Hewson), Peggy (Jillian Lebling) and Roger (Noah Schnapp), cannot fathom why the family man would represent a traitor to the American way of life.

Sure enough, Abel is convicted, but then a US pilot, Francis Gary Powers (Austin Stowell), is shot down over the Soviet Union.

Consequently, Donovan travels to Berlin to broker a covert deal to exchange Abel for Powers.

Against the advice of superiors, Donovan also opens negotiations with the Stasi for the safe return of an American economics student called Frederic Pryor (Will Rogers), who has been arrested.

Playing east against west, Donovan prays for a miracle as snow falls on the divided city.

Bridge Of Spies is a slow-burning tale of intrigue and bluff that takes its time establishing Donovan as the potential saviour of not one but three lives.

Hanks injects natural warmth and likeability to his character, a hate figure to fellow Americans, who viewed everything in black and white. In considerably less screen time, Rylance endears us to his prisoner, who is painfully aware of his chances of survival.

As you would expect from Oscar-winning filmmaker Spielberg, Bridge Of Spies illuminates tensions between east and west with boundless style.

Sound of the Fab Four!

MEMORIES of Yesterday are sure to come flooding back when a Beatles tribute act perform the greatest hits of the Fab Four at Harlow Playhouse.

The Magic of the Beatles offers an authentic replica of the greatest pop band in history during a two-hour show crammed with some of the greatest songs ever written.

From 'The Beatles' mop-top roots to the psychedelia of Sergeant Pepper and beyond, this is a celebration of what is widely considered to be a golden age of pop music.

It was during the middle part of the decade that John Lennon and and Paul McCartney came of age as songwriters - show producer Michael Taylor says the production is a celebration of "the most exciting time in pop music history live in concert".

"The Magic of the Beatles is the most comprehensive, most authentic Beatles show you'll ever see, even down to the original guitars and amps used by the band," he added.

"Fantastic costumes, brilliant vocals and incredible music comes together in a lavish musical trip back to Yesterday."

With a back catalogue bursting at the seams with top 10 hits, there was no shortage of songs from which to choose.

The band - Michael Gagliano as John Lennon, Richard Petch as George Harrison, David Peterson as Paul McCartney and David Gee as Ringo Starr - are skilled performers in their own right and have performed all over the world, appearing alongside other groups including Coldplay, Snow Patrol, Madness and Kula Shaker.

"The Beatles are unarguably the greatest ever band in the world and the cast can choose from a set list of songs that sold more than 50 million copies," said Michael.

"The show is a two-hour spectacular featuring superb costumes and a cast of skilled musicians and singers. It authentically recreates the live concert shows of John, Paul, George and Ringo that generated fan hysteria never seen before or since.

"Who could have imagined just what was to come when the world was introduced to The Beatles in 1960? Transferring their incredible live shows from residencies in Hamburg to the now-famous Cavern Club, they were eventually discovered by Brian Epstein and signed by George Martin.

"The rest is the most important chapter of pop music history."

■ The Magic of The Beatles is on a UK-wide tour and arrives at Harlow Playhouse on Saturday, February 27. Tickets cost £16 - £19.50 from the box office on (01279) 431945 or booked at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Snap up a gallery spot

PHOTOGRAPHERS of all abilities are being invited to submit work for a new exhibition to be staged at the Gibberd Gallery.

Artists Fiona Bennett and Mike Coombs are hoping to collect small photographs of the Harlow Sculpture Trail taken around the town to be used as part of a much larger artwork in the gallery in the Civic Centre early next year.

Ms Bennett said: "Please send your images and form as soon as possible."

The closing date for entries is December 18 and people whose work has been selected will be notified.

"We are looking forward to receiving entries and hope you enjoy taking the photographs," said Ms Bennett.

To request more details, email outoutour@meschoed.com.

Vinyl revival on at Intense Records

Intense Records, Chelmsford's only remaining record shop, is hosting two events this week with special Black Friday Record Store Day (RSD) releases on Friday, November 27 followed by a Black Saturday Record Fair the following day.

Intense, which has been open 16 years, is an official store for National Record Store Day, a worldwide celebration of record shops. Each April a huge selection of exclusive vinyl releases are put out for RSD and this year's event was Intense's most successful yet.

"We had 100 people queuing outside the shop at 9am when we opened and they kept coming," said Jon Smith of Intense Records.

Although it started as a store specialising in dance music, Intense now stocks all sorts of genres including rock, pop, indie, blues and jazz.

For the Black Friday event,

Intense will be stocking a number of special RSD releases – check out the website at www.intenserecords.co.uk for more details.

RSD Black Friday releases include David Bowie, Paul McCartney, The Maccabees, Kooks, Status Quo and Faith No More

There'll also be a limited edition version of Queen's Bohemian Rhapsody to mark the 40th anniversary of its release (it was the Christmas number one in 1975 and stayed at the top spot for nine weeks).

Jon said: "These releases will be flying off the shelves in the shop so get down there on the day, they won't be available in the major stores, so support your local record shop."

Darryl Webber, go! editor, will also be along to spin some Black Friday tunes, from 4pm-6pm.

Intense is following that up with a Black Saturday Record Fair for those who can't make Friday. This will feature Black Friday releases as well as an in-house record fair with local buyers and sellers who can share their expert knowledge on all things vinyl.

There'll also be DJs playing during the day including Jon Board of the Basement and Danny Bounce from British Intelligence and free refreshments.

Author Saira decides to go ginger for book

SAIRA

with Masterchef semi-finalist Saira Hamilton

T'S finally going to happen! In February, I will be releasing the first three titles in a series of cookbooks, so at the moment

I'm busy devising new recipes, testing them, tweaking them and writing them up.

Then there'll be the independent testing, food styling, photography, graphic design work and all the fun and games that are to come to meet my print deadlines.

The books are part of a 'Cooking with Saira' series and each one will highlight a single ingredient I love to cook with. The first three books are going to feature chillies, garlic and ginger, so I'm having a lot of fun with these.

I'm not sure about the family, who are getting a bit worried that all they'll be eating between now and Christmas is food with chillies, garlic or ginger. But there could be worse fates, surely?

I've decided to share my ginger fetish with you this week, mainly because the weather has turned so cold all of a sudden and I think I may have a sniffle coming on.

I am the worst person to be around when I'm feeling ill. Having a cold will make me into a terrible, sniffy, grumpy haridan, so I do whatever I can to try to prevent colds in the first place.

I'm also one of those irritating people who will stomp around telling everyone how ill I am, but refusing to take any medicine for it. My father used to insist I drank ginger tea when I had a cold coming on and of course I now do exactly the same with my children.

Ginger has diaphoretic properties, meaning that it warms you up from the inside. Ginger tea is so easy to make: just put two or three thick slices of fresh ginger and a slice of lemon with hot water in a mug, add a drizzle of honey and let it work its magic.

Ginger comes from a family of plants called the zingiberaceae botanical family, which also includes turmeric and cardamom, which are also terribly good for you. As well as helping to warm you from within, ginger is thought to be effective in soothing and aiding digestion.

Certainly, in Indian cooking, ginger is known to be an effective anti-flatulent and is therefore often used in recipes with lentils and pulses. Technically speaking, this means it is a carminative, which means it promotes the elimination of excessive gas from the digestive system and soothes the intestinal tract. Which is good to know.

Ginger is also an anti-emetic and the root is known to reduce symptoms of nausea, motion sickness and even morning sickness in pregnancy.

Finally, there is evidence that the active component in ginger – called gingerol (yes, really) – has anti-inflammatory properties, and there is evidence that it can alleviate symptoms of arthritis if consumed regularly.

Ginger for cooking comes in many forms. The usual form is the whole fresh root. Grated or crushed in a curry, finely sliced in a stir-fry, fresh ginger has the best flavour and aromatic qualities.

RECIPE

Ginger chicken broth

INGREDIENTS

1/2 tbsp vegetable oil
1 small onion, sliced
3 sticks celery, sliced
100g ginger, peeled and sliced thickly
2 litres (2,000ml) chicken stock (from bouillon cubes is fine, just use a nice brand)
300g boneless chicken
freshly ground pepper
200g fine noodles, small cooked pasta shapes or cooked rice

METHOD

Sweat the onion and celery in a pan in the oil with a pinch of salt. Add in the stock and bring to the boil.

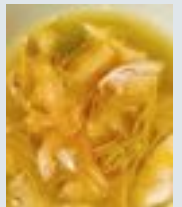

Put the whole piece(s) of raw chicken in the broth along with the ginger and poach for 20 minutes or until it is cooked through.

Strain through a colander into a bowl and reserve the cooking broth.

Pour the broth back into a clean pan, pick out the chicken, slice into small pieces and put back into the soup.

Discard the ginger and vegetables so you have a clear soup with chicken pieces. Season really well with black pepper.

You can serve the soup like this or, for a more substantial meal, add some fine noodles and simmer until cooked; you can also use small pasta shapes or even cooked rice.

Where did star spinners start?

WITH the rise of the Superstar DJ earning six-figure fees per set, you might be wondering to yourself where it all started for them?

In most cases, it is an unquenchable thirst for new music and the need to share their passion.

In our own little way, we do our best at Deco to help bring through some of what we believe could be the next big thing and what makes them so passionate, so we thought what better way to find out than to ask some of the new rising stars how it's happening for them?

In October, we introduced 'Official Nancie', who is now signed to one of the best DJ agencies in the country and when we asked her why she became a DJ, she replied: "I became a DJ because I live and breathe for music."

"When I had my first club experience I was mesmerised by the DJ booth, how different DJs could showcase their talent and have the potential to enlighten people's evenings. I knew that was exactly what I wanted to do."

Mike Wooller will be playing for us in December.

Mike is resident radio presenter on MoS Radio and is also stand-in presenter for Danny Howard on BBC Radio 1 and produced shows for BBC Radio 1 Xtra, plus this year he presented EDC Radio in Las Vegas and Tomorrowland radio in Belgium. We asked Mike what he loves about being a DJ.

"To me there's something magical about sharing the music you love with other people."

"When you're behind the DJ booth and people are going crazy to a track you've selected, it gives you such a buzz you want to do it over and over again. That's why I decided to do it as a job, I love that feeling."

In November we had rising star Sophie Wright, who now presents the Friday Night Dance show on The Hits Radio, running weekly from 7-10pm.

The show is broadcast on the Bauer City 3 network, syndicated in 13 cities across the UK from Dundee and Glasgow down to Lincolnshire and the Midlands. We asked Sophie what her all-time favourite track was.

"It's hard to pick just one, but if I had to say a favourite House tune it would be Armand Van Helden, You Don't Know Me."

This finally brings us to one of the most talented DJs we have ever heard. Her passion for music can be seen instantaneously once she is behind the decks. She has grown to become one of the hottest DJs around and we are happy to say she is also a long-term friend.

Sam Divine is one of Ibiza's real success stories and she is only going to get bigger and is set for global fame.

Sam is not only a Defected In the House DJ, but she has also just launched her own record label 'D-Vine Sounds' and best of all she will be headlining our Ibiza Residents night on Sunday December 27, which we are very excited about it.

What's hot on the Deco dance floor this month?

1. Peverell Bros feat Ron Carroll - Way back (Roger Sanchez Remix)
2. Disciples - APE (Original Mix)
3. Brandy & Monica - Boy is Mine

- (Brickwall & DJ Dloose Remix)
4. Jerome Robins - Finally (Mart Remix)
5. Oliver Heldens & Shaun Frank feat. Delaney Jane - Shades of Grey (Nora en pure remix)
6. Azzido Da Bass - Dooms Night (Low Steppa Redoom)
7. DJ Sign - The right time (Original Mix)
8. Roland Clark - I Get Deep (Richard Earnshaw Remix)
9. Don Diablo, Khrebto - Got The Love (Extended Mix)
10. Calvin Harris & Disciples - How Deep Is Your Love (Chris Lake Remix)

News, reviews & sales:
harlowstar.co.uk/motors

Thursday, November 26, 2015

By David Ward

WHAT'S in a car name? Quite a lot if you listen to car making bosses who most admit that even now they each have literally hundreds of name each already registered by themselves for future use when they bring out another new car.

So the obvious question then why bring back and re-use an old model name such as Vauxhall has done with reviving their Seventies name Viva in a new budget-busting cheap family car?

According to the Luton car firm's hierarchy it's because the original Viva was such a huge sales success and synonymous with affordable motoring and a name still revered by many older drivers.

It's a bold move but one that looks to beginning to pay off for this new, dinky five-door Viva, effectively replacing the old Polish-made Agila, simply because it nice looking, decently kitted out inside, powered only by a fuel efficient one-litre petrol engine and comes in at a bargain price of £7,995.

This means it undercuts its closest rivals, like the three-door Kia Picanto (£8,395) and Hyundai i10 (£8,595), and even the SE base model has better standard equipment on board making it a decent enough proposition for the more budget-conscious family motorist.

Only the Renault-back, Romanian-built Sandero Access with its 1.2-litre petrol engine is cheaper at £5,995 but is not so well equipped as a basic Viva.

From the outside it looks smart enough with its sculpted bulges rising up towards the rear end and inside it will sit five adults in decent enough accommodation.

Currently there's just that one 1.0-litre

74bhp engine offered – it's a non-turbocharged version of the one-litre, three-cylinder already used in the Corsa and Adam – and it's competent enough out on the road.

Use the neat, crisp feeling five-speed manual gearbox sensibly and most drivers will get a comfortable and rewarding if not particularly exciting performance with the key being good fuel economy, which averaged just 60mpg on test over a variety of roads.

Most drivers in this category will be more pleased with that although Vauxhall say if motorists pay a bit more and go for the SE ecoFLEX version, which adds low rolling resistance tyres to its specification, fuel consumption is likely to be up in the mid 60mpg range.

Vauxhall reveal too that from next January the car will also be available with the firm's IntelliLink infotainment system along with touchscreen and connectivity to both Apple and Android devices but obviously that will be dearer.

The Viva's impressive standard safety systems include electronic stability control, lane departure warning, traction control and hill-start function.

With comfortable enough seats both trim models come with electrically-adjustable mirrors and cruise control plus trip computer and remote central locking. Pay a bit more for the top-spec SL for climate control, USB and Bluetooth connectivity, 15-inch alloy wheels and a leather-covered steering wheel.

Verdict:

It's ideal for local, urban driving duties, practical and affordable, cheap to run, well equipped for a basic car and a decent ride.

Opt for the actual base one – really excellent value for money.

TIME TO GET READY FOR WINTER

With a prolonged cold spell predicted, Onlinetyrestore.com says you should make sure your tyres are safe for deteriorating road conditions

Now that the winter months are with us there comes the prospect of ice, snow, and frost. Just at the moment the UK is also experiencing a substantial increase in rainfall levels, all of which can expose badly worn or illegal tyres – particularly those having less than the legal 1.6mm of tyre tread.

Drivers with illegal tyres risk loss of control of their vehicle and a possible accident, not to mention a possible fine and three points on the licence... ouch!

While the last few winters were relatively mild, there is always the possibility that this winter will be a bad one and many weather forecasts are predicting a long spell of cold and freezing temperatures hitting our shores in the next few weeks. For that reason motorists should make sure that their tyres are in good condition.

Here are four quick tips to help you check if your tyres are ready for winter:

■ Check the tread depth: The law requires a minimum of 1.6mm of tread although experts recommend that drivers should consider changing tyres when the tread falls below 3.0mm

■ Tyre pressures: These should be checked regularly and adjusted according to the manufacturer's handbook. Under no circumstances should tyre pressures be reduced for driving in snow, it is totally incorrect to think that by doing this that the tyre's footprint is enlarged.

■ General tyre condition: Check this regularly and especially any sidewall damage which might have been caused by hitting a kerb.

■ Spare tyre: Check it, it's in the boot and check it for both tread depth and pressure so that if in an emergency the tyre has to be fitted it is safe and legal.

You might also wish to check for uneven wear. Many cars have tyres/wheels that are misaligned and this can cause excessive wear on tyre edges and lead to premature replacement.

Remember the only place your car actually touches the road surface is the tyres...make sure they're fit for whatever the winter has to offer and if they do need replacing visit www.onlinetyrestore.com where you will find over 500,000 tyres available to fit locally.

Big Cats urged to build on strong Derby finish

Ogunjimi takes heart from late rally during defeat

LEVETT Essex Leopards coach Steve Ogunjimi is looking for his side to build on a fighting performance at Derby Trailblazers as they face a pair of key games this weekend.

The Big Cats could consider themselves unlucky to go down 75-71 in the East Midlands on Saturday, but will look to bounce back at Kent Crusaders this Saturday before hosting Leicester Warriors at the Brentwood Centre at 4pm on Sunday.

"We could've folded at Derby," said Ogunjimi after watching his side fight back from 16 points down to lead in the final two minutes. "But we stepped up and I was really pleased with how we played in the fourth quarter."

"It's a shame that so many key decisions went against us, but we need to take that into this weekend and pick up a couple of victories."

Saturday's trip to Gillingham will give Leopards the chance to avenge their 84-80 National Trophy loss against Crusaders in a game where they truly snatched defeat from the jaws of victory by giving up a double-digit lead.

Struggled

The young Kent side have struggled this season after seeing the core of their play-off title-winning team depart, with that win against Leopards being their only one in six Trophy games, and they have started the league season with one win from five games.

The Big Cats are hoping for a big crowd at the Brentwood Centre on Sunday with kids going free with adults, see www.leopardsbasketball.co.uk for details, as they look to win their first home league game of the season.

After a couple of early-season hammerings, Karl Brown's Warriors have improved recently and should provide a tough test for Ogunjimi's team.

It was a depleted Leopards team that came up short at high-flying Derby on Saturday, but the Big Cats produced a much better performance than in their National Cup exit.

With Tom Martin and Brian Nguru injured and Evan Walshe on England U18 duty, Ogunjimi's side travelled to Derby with only eight players, and the Leopards coach put on a kit for the club for the first time in a decade.

Despite the problems, which Ogunjimi hopes to solve with a couple of signings in the next fortnight, Leopards started well and a Ladi Brown basket sent them into the first break with a 21-17 lead.

With the foul count growing, the visitors were called for 24 fouls in contrast to Derby's 16 and went to the foul line five less times. The second period was a frustrating one for the Big Cats, and with assistant coach Roger Malpass collecting a baffling technical foul, the hosts went into the locker room with a 34-31 lead.

The third period was a disaster for the Big Cats as they were outscored 25-12, and Derby closed the quarter on a 14-9 run to lead 59-43 at the final break.

It would've been easy for Leopards to fold at that stage but Brown hit eight points in a 12-4 start to the quarter and, despite Justin Hitchman fouling out, Albert Margai capped an 11-2 run with a trey to give his team a 68-67 advantage with 2min 37sec remaining.

Derby responded with a deuce from David Watts, before Will Ashby converted from downtown to put the visitors up by two.

Then, having not converted from long range all night, Sydney Donaldson sunk a difficult three-pointer to put Derby 72-71 ahead with 1:33 left.

Margai fouled out with six seconds remaining as Leopards were forced to stop the clock, and the visitors completely messed up their final offence of the game to hand Derby the win.

Brown led Leopards with 21 points, with Hitchman, Courtney van Beest and Ashby all hitting ten.

Bogey side march on as Harlow pay for a poor start

Herts Basketball County Cup second round

Harlow Hawks 50
Hertfordshire Warriors 70

HARLOW Hawks paid the price for a sloppy opening quarter as they exited the Herts Basketball County Cup at the second-round stage.

The Hawks faced off against a familiar foe at the Leisurezone – the Hertfordshire Warriors.

Since beating the Warriors in the Herts Plate final during the 2013-2014 season, the Hawks have lost all of their last three matches against their bogey side.

At the opening tip-off, the Warriors deployed their usual defensive tactic of pressuring the inbound pass and gaining possession close to the basket for an easy score.

The Hawks, failing to score in the first five minutes, allowed the Warriors to go up 16-0 before a time-out from coach Saul Friedner settled any nerves and a three-pointer from Shab Niaz lifted the Hawks' confidence.

Further scores from Jimmy Fuhrmann and Rimas Norkeliunas reduced the deficit slightly to end the first quarter 22-8.

In the second quarter, the Hawks offence began to flow with scores from Niaz and Dan Cohen.

Defensively Mike Freeman provided toughness and rebounding, allowing for the Hawks to maintain possession.

Scores from Freeman and Russ Allan were matched by the Warriors who continued to convert tough contested jump shots.

Despite some sharp shooting from Niaz, the Hawks trailed 35-23.

The Hawks came out in the second half with a renewed sense of purpose.

Scores from Allan and Fuhrmann capped off an 8-1 run.

The Warriors then went on an 11-2 run, despite some strong defence from the Hawks.

Tom White blocked a number of shots and Richard Whytock came up with a steal.

At the end of the third quarter, the Hawks trailed 58-37.

In the fourth period, the Hawks looked close to a comeback following back-to-back three-pointers from assistant coach Lee Morris and another from Cohen.

Yet every time the home team came close, it was the visiting Warriors who answered with a basket of their own.

It was an impressive second-half performance from the Hawks, but a dismal first quarter left the home team trailing for the entire game.

The final score finished 70-50.

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (13 pts), R. Allan (9pts), R. Norkeliunas (8pts), D. Cohen (6pts), L. Morris (6pts) J. Fuhrmann (5pts), M. Freeman (3pts), R. Whytock, S. Friedner.

Plucky Hawks miss out on semi-final

Essex Basketball County Cup quarter-final

Harlow Hawks 60
Barking & Dagenham 79

HARLOW Hawks suffered a second cup defeat in three days as they went out of the Essex County competition after a battle with Barking & Dagenham Erkenwald.

It was a tough match up indeed for the Hawks on Friday.

Player-coach Shab Niaz opening the game with a three-pointer should have spurred the Hawks to a good start but it was the speed and execution from Erkenwald that meant they took an early lead after five minutes.

Hawks hit seven points in the quarter but Erkenwald had a 13-point lead by the end of the quarter and led 23-10.

The rout continued into the second quarter with just one basket from Tom White, which was the only one in open play.

This came in the first four minutes but Erkenwald responded with nine points.

The remaining points for Hawks came from free-throws for the rest of the quarter.

The quarter ended with Erkenwald 42-17 ahead.

It was clear a change of strategy was needed and Hawks switched from a man-to-man defence to a zone defence.

Dividends

This tactic started to pay dividends and Hawks scored 11 points in the first four minutes of the third and Erkenwald scored eight.

Three pointers from Niaz and a three-point play from Rimantas Norkeliunas helped boost momentum for Hawks.

Hawks continued to add points to the board with no reply from Erkenwald, the hosts were 16 points behind by the end of the quarter, 59-43.

The game was now within grasp for the Hawks and the fourth quarter started off well with points from Alex Hinds, Norkeliunas, White and a three pointer from Niaz in the first four minutes.

It was, however, proving difficult to close the gap as Erkenwald missed very few open shots, including a total of nine three-pointers in the match, three of which came in the fourth quarter.

The Hawks only managed to score four points in the last four minutes with Erkenwald extending their lead.

It was a great fightback from Hawks but proved too much of a deficit to come back from.

Erkenwald closed out the game 79-60 to progress in the competition.

HARLOW HAWKS: R. Allan 4, R. Whytock 4, J. Fuhrmann 2, S. Cooper 0, A. Hinds 5, S. Friedner 0, D. Rozgonyuk 0, T. White 12, R. Norkeliunas 15, S. Niaz 17, J. Haddow 1.

Win for Ladies

HARLOW Hockey Club teams gained a win and a draw in matches over the weekend.

The Harlow Ladies seconds won 3-1 against Old Southendians in their Essex League match.

Sarah Alderson, Sarah Donaghey and Laura Maynard got the goals.

In a mixed game, Harlow drew 2-2 at University of Hertfordshire.

Nicole determined to end racing stereotype

Ford's focused on success in male-dominated sport

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

MOTORCYCLING might be a sport more associated with grease-covered male bikers, but 22-year-old Nicole Ford is breaking the norm in a field she loves – and forget the grease, she's just grease lightning.

Ford, of Barley Croft in Harlow, started racing on the amateur motorcycle circuit for a club called No Limits Racing a year ago.

Having got the bug for the adrenaline-fuelled sport, she is travelling up and down the country with her father and fellow motorsport enthusiast Andy, as she competes in various competitions on top circuits including former Formula One Grand Prix circuit Donington Park and Brands Hatch.

She has certainly got the right name for motor sport.

And she is determined to break new ground, being one of very few women attracted to this male-dominated sport.

Prove

She explained: "As motorcycle racing is so widely regarded to be a man's sport I thought I'd turn my hand to it and prove that women do enjoy and still compete in this sport and it is still possible to be competitive, although there are very few of us out there.

"No Limits Racing also run a track day business alongside the race series they do, allowing the practice we need in between races at all of the major UK race circuits."

The fact that she can only hold her own against male competition is something – but not only that she also has built her own bike.

"My dad took me out of school and taught me to drift and donut a standard Ford 105e Anglia at the age of nine.

"Over the last year I have saved money, built and raced my bike on my own. With a little help from a few friends and my dad I managed to compete in three rounds and ended up in a reasonably high position, and considering the whole thing is new and very daunting – and I don't have much sponsorship or support – I was very happy with my progress.

"The bike we built and I compete on is a 2005 Kawasaki Ninja ZX6r C1H, converted from a damaged road bike to a race bike to suit my needs. We rebuilt everything ourselves even down to the bodywork and paint in the garden shed and although the bike isn't the best and certainly isn't brand new, I wouldn't have it any other way. We have all got to start somewhere haven't we?"

Ford and her father were helped by NB Racing to get her going in the sport.

"I always help my dad with everything and anything he's building, not just when we built my bike. I specifically helped with engine, bodywork, modifications we needed to add to the bike, and replacing old broken parts.

"I'm always observing and helping and if I'm unsure I just watch and listen. I learnt about all these kind of antics from the age of about two or three from my dad, uncle and all their friends, they were always building cars, adding turbos and making cars better."

Next year Ford will compete in the No Limits Racing Rookie/Newcomers 600 Class.

She said: "For the 2016 season things are looking to be a bit different. I am hoping to compete in every single round and test day next year to try and win some points for the championship."

"I am seeking help and sponsorship from local businesses or individuals who have an interest in the sport or who would like to gain an insight into it and come along and watch some exciting races and in return you will receive advertising on the bike itself and my race van along with a board outside my garage for the whole three-day weekend of racing."

Sponsors already on board include: Chris Kill at CSK Landrovers in Hoddesdon, HPS Motorcycles, Leonard Brooks Paints, SEOMers Marketing and Worx Signs and Graphics in Harlow.

Her father's company AST developments, which helped build and maintain her bike, are also sponsors.

Maxwell moves up UK rankings

TEN-year-old Maxwell Chinn has continued his fine form.

The former Henry Moore student took part in his first 5K parkrun last Saturday at Harlow.

He ran with Harlow College student Canaan Solomon.

Maxwell ran brilliantly for second from 149 starters in 19min 38sec, some three minutes 48 secs inside the old record.

This run also placed Maxwell 26th in the UK rankings for 5K parkruns for U11s.

Despite a nasty fall he ran 13:28 from 75 starters.

His Burnt Mill Academy teammate Liam Waldron was 25th in 14:51.

Pope wins GB medals

VENRAY in Holland was the destination for young Adam Pope, 19, as he represented Great Britain in the 2015 Dutch Open Championship Special Needs Judo competition.

Effectively there were two competitions held on one day.

The main event, the Dutch Open Special Needs, was held in the morning, and a team event – The Shenshu, in the afternoon.

Harlow Judo Club member Pope fought very well and added two further bronzes to his medal collection.

This fantastic result followed on from competing recently in the Hampshire Special Needs Open Judo Championships at Fleming Park Leisure Centre, Hampshire.

It was at this venue that he was selected to be a member of the British Special Needs squad to compete in Venray.

The club caters for special needs abilities and has a coach specifically for this area.

Harlow Judo Club is based in Foldcroft.

Up and away but top team edge Harlow

Essex Women's Hockey League, Premier Division

Upminster II 2
Harlow 1

HARLOW Ladies suffered a 2-1 defeat to leaders Upminster in the Essex Women's Hockey League, Premier Division.

The game began with Upminster having more of the ball but not being able to break down the Harlow defence.

Anita Shearman and Sam Care made good interceptions. Going forward Georgina Esterhuysen-Smith and Jo Chambers had shots saved.

In the second half Harlow began brightly passing the ball about.

Kelly Ball, having a strong game at right midfield, linked well with Bethan Spencer and secured a short corner.

The well-worked set piece went narrowly wide from Emma Tweddle.

Upminster came into the game and any short corners they had were saved well by Laura Hay and charged down by Donaghey.

Hay made a great save but the umpire signalled for a goal that even the Upminster players weren't claiming.

Spencer and Esterhuysen-Smith pushed forward but were unable to get Harlow back level and Upminster bundled in a second goal.

With not long left on the clock Chambers dragged out a short corner to Tweddle who slipped it right to Spencer and she finished past the keeper at her near post.

However, this proved to be a consolation goal.

East Men's Hockey League, Division Six South East

Havering 0
Harlow 2

HARLOW continued their impressive season with a 3-0 win over Havering to remain top of Division Six South East.

The young Havering side made sure that Harlow were going to be made to work for the win.

With the assistance of man of the match Keith Johnson, Harlow pushed back hard against the Havering forwards.

At the halfway mark the game was goalless, with Harlow maintaining the pressure on Havering, but unable to convert the chances in the D with the home keeper regularly charging down the Harlow strikers.

Harlow came out energised in the second half.

Andy Boughtwood went on a thrilling run into the D and skilfully tapped the ball past the charging keeper for Benn Hagger to pick it up sweetly on the end of his stick and flick towards the open goal.

This galvanised Harlow, with Luke Krzoska proving to be a pivotal link between defence and midfield.

Twenty minutes into the second half James Morris made a driven run up the left wing, being halted by a crashing tackle to gain a free hit in the 25.

The ball was passed into the D and into the path of Boughtwood who smashed in a fantastic goal.

Harlow held off ten minutes of pressure towards the end as the lack of substitutes began to show, but chalked up another win.

Three brothers and cousin line-up for Rams

STAR Wars might not be out at cinemas for another month but Harlow Rugby Club has its own clone army taking over.

Four members of the Clark clan lined up for the same team on Saturday, while another four relatives are steadily progressing through the ranks at the Elizabeth Way club.

Clark stormtroopers James, Alfie, Ryan (all brothers) plus their cousin Chay Clark, lined up for the club's second team which thrashed Chelmsford 44-12 in the Essex Merit League last weekend.

James Clark, 25, who plays in the back row, skippered the second team.

His younger brother Ryan, 22, was in the centre and Alfie, 17, made his debut for the team and played at fly-half.

The three boys, who all attended Burnt Mill School, played for the first team in pre-season matches and are knocking on the door of the club's senior side.

They are all sons of Harlow

Youth Section chairman Adam Clark.

Their cousin Chay, 18, a former Passmore Academy student, can play at centre or fly-half.

Proud

Adam said: "As youth chairman I am extremely proud of the fact that these lads came through our mini and junior sections.

"With the ladies, girls, youth and mini sections all growing in numbers, coupled with four men's teams, I believe we epitomise a true family club.

"I also have another four nephews who are currently playing in the mini and junior sections so there are a few more Clarks coming through the ranks."

Chelmsford were no match for the Clarks.

Tries came from Ryan Clark (2), Alfie Clark, James Clark, Mitchell Hodgkinson, Connor Cranstone and Alberto Matos.

Chay Clark kicked one conversion and his cousin James kicked another.

NEW BOY: New Harlow Town signing Mario Noto

Super Mario can rescue misfiring side

BOSS Danny Chapman is convinced midfielder Mario Noto can be one of the missing pieces in his jigsaw puzzle at Harlow Town.

Noto, 31, spent eight seasons with Boreham Wood, helping them climb from the Ryman Premier to the Vanarama National League.

He started his career at Spurs, coming through the youth ranks.

He used to play alongside Hawks assistant manager Spencer Knight when the pair were at Chelmsford City.

"We spoke about bringing in another midfield player and he became available," said Chapman.

"He has a top pedigree in the game, he has gone through most of the league with Boreham Wood to get where they are. He can play anywhere in the midfield. Technically he is very good and he knows the game very well.

"He has not played much football lately so it will take two or three games to get that match sharpness."

Controversial

Noto, clearly not fully match fit, was unable to help Harlow seal three points at fellow play-off chasers Tilbury on Saturday.

Daniel Glozier's controversial penalty on 34 minutes gave the hosts a first-half lead.

Alex Read equalised for the Hawks on 64 minutes but Tilbury went back in front through Matt Game a minute later.

The hosts sealed the three points with a third through Kurt Smith on 89 minutes.

Chapman said: "It was a horrible game for Mario to come into. The pitch was boggy and horrible.

"We started well for the first ten minutes. We had two great opportunities: Junior Dadson had a header and should have scored, and [Alex] Read was one-on-one. It was a tight angle."

On Tilbury's penalty, Chapman said: "Some referees give those and some don't.

"We equalised and they scored ten seconds after the re-start. We lost our momentum. We tried to get something out of the game and went two up top and pushed forward. They broke away and scored a third. It was disappointing.

"If you look at it like you need ten points from every five matches, we are only two points off that.

"It's not the end of the world. We will pick ourselves up."

Harlow host Phoenix Sports this Saturday and are away to Haringey Borough on Tuesday.

Harlow put to the sword by West Norfolk

RFU London & South East Division Three North East

West Norfolk 41
Harlow 12

HARLOW suffered a heavy 41-12 loss at second-placed West Norfolk in London Division Three North East on Saturday.

Harlow lost scrum-half Charlie Woodington and centre Ross Stalley to injuries early on, but youngsters Jake Kent Pope and Charlie Robinson came on and acquitted themselves well.

West Norfolk took an early lead when winger Jake Richardson sprinted through for a converted try on 12 minutes.

A few minutes later the home full-back Ross Biggs burst through for a try, which was also converted by Lewys Weaver to open up a 14-0 lead.

In the last minute of the first half, centre Ryan McGlone broke through two tackles but was halted five metres out by a crunching tackle.

After the restart, Norfolk grabbed a third try when Ryan Walker charged down a clearance kick and stormed through under the posts.

Weaver added the extras. Richardson finished off a brilliant backs move to score his second try, while a penalty made it 31-0.

Harlow's forwards did not give up and the front five provided the space for number eight Kain Claridge to go over for a converted try.

A powering break by hooker Danny Stonehouse gave Harlow their second try for 31-12.

However, further unconverted tries from prop Lawrence Savage and Richardson, for his hat-trick, turned it into a rout.

Harlow's head coach Lee Harron said: "We were taught a harsh lesson of strong ball carrying and how to be clinical on Saturday.

"We started very well, putting considerable pressure on West

Norfolk, forcing turnovers and penalties at the breakdown and scrummage.

"However, the loss of Woodington and Stalley within the first five minutes made the task very difficult.

"Although credit should go to Jake Kent Pope and Charlie Robinson who acquitted themselves well.

"Any points in those conditions in the first half would have been worth double but we failed to take any of the several gilt-edged chances we created.

"After the break we made some poor individual decisions and began to fall off numerous tackles and were severely punished.

"The score would suggest that we were well beaten, but on the contrary we dominated up front and in the tight, taking several balls against the head at scrummage time and driving West Norfolk back time after time at the line-out.

"However, when West Norfolk got the ball, very soft defence right across the pitch from us allowed them to get in behind us and we had no answer for West Norfolk's clinical finishing."

This result leaves Harlow in fourth place in the table.

This Saturday they host London Division Three North West side Stevenage in the first round of the RFU Senior Vase.

■ HARLOW U14s lost 19-7 at home to Milton Keynes.

Alex Perry kicked a penalty try for Harlow.

Harlow U10s played a series of matches at Stevenage.

Results were: Stevenage 6, Harlow 8 (scorers: Montelle Levy 2, Joe Court 5, Henry Stovell 1); Stevenage 4, Harlow 5 (scorers: James Forde 1, Montelle Levy 1, Joe Court 2, Henry Stovell 1); Stevenage 3, Harlow 5 (scorers: Montelle Levy 3, Joe Court 1, Henry Stovell 1).

The Harlow U11s lost 12-2 and 5-1 to Stevenage teams.

HOCKEY CLUB'S SET FOR RETURN

Exile could end as committee targets school switch

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Hockey Club are closing in on a possible return to their roots.

Burnt Mill Academy is hopeful that the club could resume playing at its old home if it gets the go-ahead to build a new secondary school on the old Passmores School site in Tendring Road.

But chiefs at Harlow Hockey Club (HHC) – forced to leave the town and start playing in Sawbridgeworth five years ago – have other options and are eyeing sharing an artificial pitch at Stewards Academy in Parnall Road.

It has been a tough time for the hockey club, which runs teams in the East Men's Hockey League and the Essex Women's League.

With dwindling numbers, Harlow were forced to axe one of their men's teams.

Dormant

The club's state-of-the-art artificial pitches at Tendring Road – which were installed in 2001 with funding from Sport England – have lay dormant since Passmores secondary school closed down and moved to Tracys Road.

HHC was unable to use the new Passmores site because the artificial pitches were a different type of 3G surface, and instead has played at Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth – five miles away from Harlow – since 2010.

However, first team player Rhys Mace said plans to see HHC return to Harlow are now in full swing.

Along with Stewards, HHC's committee have identified another site. It could share the facilities at a new primary school in Newhall – but only if they install the right type of artificial pitch.

BACK TO THE FUTURE: Harlow Ladies first team player Anita Shearman (left) and Alex Figg at the Tendring Road complex back in 2010 when the club was forced out of Harlow

He said: "Some schools are saying to us that they would be open to the idea of a sand-based Astro for us to share, but I think it comes down to finance."

"In order for us to apply for another Sport England grant we need to do several things, the main thing is proving that there is a need for it."

"As a result we have started discussions with schools. Unfortunately hockey has been taken off of most of their curriculums mainly because of lack of playing surfaces."

"However, Stewards is sounding promising, and we are looking to negotiate with them about going into the school and doing some coaching to try to work towards junior development again, which will be a huge boost towards a grant."

"We are also keeping contact with the developers of the Newhall site, as we understand they have to supply a sporting facility of some sort."

But Burnt Mill has also suggested using the Tendring Road site if Essex County Council approve the scheme for a new secondary school linked to the First Avenue Academy.

Burnt Mill Academy Trust executive headteacher Helena Mills said: "We believe we are here to serve our communities and encourage local clubs and organisations to consider the option of making use of our facilities, where possible."

Any final approval for the hockey club to use a site in Harlow would need the green light from Essex County Council before a pitch is installed.

Harlow are next in action on Saturday when they host Phoenix Sports in Ryman North, followed by Tuesday's trip to lowly Haringey Borough.

Boss: Yule have to go on run after Xmas

Ryman North

AFC Hornchurch 0
Harlow Tn 0

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman is refusing to panic despite the fact that his side are now 11 points off the play-off places on the back of a miserable run of form.

Harlow Town gained a valuable point away to title-chasing AFC Hornchurch on Tuesday.

Chapman said: "Look at the amount of games we have got left. We have 30 games to go. That's a hell of a lot of points. If it was ten games to the end of the season I would be thinking 'it's going to be close'."

"I'm not saying I wouldn't like to be there or thereabouts. Often teams will go on a run after Christmas time."

"In this league everyone beats everyone. There's no real consistency."

"Our goal has not changed. We are looking to get promoted."

Chapman hopes to bring in another right-back and a goalkeeper to provide more competition for places.

Suspended

Centre-half Ibrahima Sonko (groin), utility player Leon Antoine (groin), midfielder Leon Fisher (family bereavement) and Ryan Melaugh (suspended) were missing from the game.

Sam Holloway came into central midfield, making his first league start since he broke a leg at Thurrock in February.

Chapman also brought Joe Benjamin into the side.

There were very few clear cut chances as both defences remained on top throughout.

The point saw Hornchurch slip from second to fourth.

Harlow are 13th, now 11 points behind Bury who occupy the fifth and final play-off place.

But the Hawks have three games in hand on the Suffolk side.

Harlow are next in action on Saturday when they host Phoenix Sports in Ryman North, followed by Tuesday's trip to lowly Haringey Borough.

Former Reading defender Sonko has missed the last few matches since going off injured in the 2-0 loss at Cheshunt.

"You are always going to miss a player of that calibre. We've got to get him back," added Chapman.
